STENOGRAPHER IS BELIEVED TO HOLD THE KEY

GIRL KNEW OF THE PERSONAL CHECKS AND LETTERS OF
D. C. STEPHENSON

MILDRED MEADE WORKED FOR
FORMER GRAND DRAGON
AND DISAPPEARS

By GERALD P. OVERTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 15. — A young stenographer, who suddenly dropped from sight a week ago, was believed today to hold the key to solution of the disappearance of personal letters and checks of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan.

Prosecutor William H. Remy is attempting to obtain the documents as evidence for the Marion county grand jury investigation of charges that Stephenson set up a corrupt super-government in Indiana.

The girl, Mildred Meade, worked in Stephenson's office before he was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer a year ago. Miss Meade left her home here last Friday just as the political inquiry was warming up and Prosecutor Remy is convinced she knows of the hiding place of the missing documents or aided in their destruction.

The father, mother and sister of the missing stenographer were before the grand jury yesterday but apparently were unable to give any information of her whereabouts. After leaving the grand jury room, the mother sent an appeal through newspapers to the daughter to "come home at once, no matter who is advising you to stay away."

Meanwhile, Thomas Adams, Vincennes editor, whose charges provoked the grand jury inquiry, continued his efforts to have the inquiry taken up by the senatorial investigating committee, headed by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. "I have sent Senator Reed evidence which is bound to bring about a federal investigation," Adams said, after wiring each member of the senate committee a request to convene here.

"The federal government," Adams said, "is the only agency big enough to cope with this situation. The grand jury won't get anywhere because it is too much hampered by red tape. If we can't get the legislature into session our best bet is the Reed committee. I believe the senators will consent to convene here after they have finished their investigation in Illinois next week."

Floyd Christian, former attorney for Stephenson, who told of seeing documents of a startling nature, piled on the bunk of the former dragon in the jail at Noblesville, Ind., testified before the grand jury for more than an hour yesterday.

Later the jury heard evidence of C. M. Hull, Anderson, photographer, and his wife, who claimed they made photostatic copies of Stephenson's missing documents before he was sent to prison.

Adams was subpoenaed to testify again today before the grand jury. He was the first witness called in the inquiry. He charged that Stephenson's documents contained copies of contracts the deposed dragon made with officials whereby he would control the government for engineering their election.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 15.—Information obtained from D. C. Stephenson, former Klan dragon, in a secret interview at the state prison at Michigan City was placed before the Marion county grand jury today by William Sheaffer, deputy prosecutor in the investigation of state politics.

Sheaffer and Earl Klenck, former lieutenant of Stephenson in the Klan organization, were closeted alone with Stephenson in a room at the prison for three hours yesterday.

POST OFFICE DROPS TRANSCONTINENTAL AIR MAIL LINE

Washington, Oct. 15. — (UP) — The post office department announced today it will relinquish the transcontinental and overnight New York-Chicago government operated air mail services and will advertise within 30 days for bids for private enterprise to take over the service.

"It has never been the intention of the post office department to continue operation permanently of the air mail service," Postmaster General New said.

The department had 85 airplanes, 15 hangars and machine shops worth several millions dollars, which will be sold.

The trip from Lakehurst was made in a little more than 16 hours, and except for some contrary head winds encountered over Ohio, was smooth. These winds slowed down the 50 miles an hour gait that had been maintained after passing Pittsburgh to 20 miles an hour.

The day broke with a perfect sky. Hardly a bit of wind was stirring and the ship was very still against the tower. The crowd about it was increased by a continuous stream of automobiles coming from all directions. It was necessary for spectators to build small fires to keep themselves warm.

Approximately 3,500 people, including Henry and Edsel Ford, were waiting for the dirigible. Almost simultaneously with the sighting of the giant ship, 1,000 searchlights from as many automobiles parked at the Ford airport, shot their rays upon the hulk of the ship, silhouetting its beautiful silver frame against the dark skies.

After cruising about the port for an hour, awaiting better light for a landing, Commander Rosendahl had a rope dropped to the ground at 4:35 A. M. An hour later the vessel was moored fast to the mast.

Just a little more than a year ago this mast had been built for the ill-fated Shenandoah, sister to the Los Angeles, to dedicate.

Lieutenant Commander Charles Rosendahl was the first to alight from the ship. He was greeted by Henry Ford.

Rosendahl indicated that his stay in Detroit was undetermined as yet. The commander said he would make a flight over Detroit shortly before noon and return to the field, where he will remain until tonight and possibly until tomorrow.

Members of the crew were permitted to come aground, but not to leave the field.

Washington, Oct. 15.—First word of the successful landing of the dirigible Los Angeles at Detroit, reached the navy department early today, through the United Press, after watchers had spent an anxious night awaiting news. The navy's communication was a telegram that she had passed Akron, Ohio, and stated that the main radio set was out of order.

The jury was excused during the arguments on this motion and were ordered to report at 2 p. m.

The extended period required for the arguments in the event the court denied the motion may result in extending the case into next week.

Attorney J. C. Hardgrove made the motion, asking for a directed verdict in five separate requests.

TO SETTLE CLAIMS OF HOHENZOLLERN

Berlin, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The Prussian Diet today approved the terms of the agreement to settle the claims of the Hohenzollern family against the state. The claims involved both money and real estate.

Communist opposition has been vigorously against the settlement, but the Diet was so overwhelmingly in favor of the settlement that it was approved by a rising vote.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—(UP) — The giant navy dirigible Los Angeles completed its cruise from the Lakehurst, N. J., hangar to Detroit at 3:30 this morning and two hours later was safely moored to the $100,000 Ford air mast at Dearborn.

The trip from Lakehurst was made in a little more than 16 hours, and except for some contrary head winds encountered over Ohio, was smooth. These winds slowed down the 50 miles an hour gait that had been maintained after passing Pittsburgh to 20 miles an hour.

The day broke with a perfect sky. Hardly a bit of wind was stirring and the ship was very still against the tower. The crowd about it was increased by a continuous stream of automobiles coming from all directions. It was necessary for spectators to build small fires to keep themselves warm.

THOS. A. EDISON BELIEVES IN LIFE AFTER DEATH

New York, Oct. 15. — (UP) — Thomas A. Edison, after varying degrees of skepticism on the question of immortality of the soul, has made known his belief that the evidence is in favor of life after death.

In an interview published in the November Forum, the inventor admits he sees nothing incredible in the possibility of the soul's being immortal. He urges religious teachers to study the subject and try to build up proof which skeptics cannot laugh at.

His latest attitude is at variance with previous stances.

Six years ago he said he was "dabbling" with apparatus with which he hoped to communicate with spirits and then he later said "it was all a joke."

In 1924 he said "my brain is incapable of conceiving of such a thing as a soul."

In his earlier years he and Luther Burbank were leaders in the Free Thinkers' society.

DR. RILEY WISHES TO USE MIN-
NEAPOLIS ARMORY AS PUB-
LIC FORUM

Minneapolis, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Dr. W. R. Riley of Minneapolis today awaited a reply from his challenge to J. A. A. Burnquist for a debate on evolution.

Dr. Riley, a leader among fundamentalists of the northwest, invited Burnquist, a trustee of Carleton college at Northfield, to discuss the question with him on the platform of the Minneapolis Armory before a public audience.

The challenge grew out of Dr. Riley's resolution before the Minnesota Baptist convention, providing that financial support be withdrawn from Carleton, because of alleged belief of the faculty in evolution.

Meanwhile the right of the Carleton faculty to hold whatsoever belief it wished and retain Baptist support was upheld by Rev. David Bryn Jones of Trinity Baptist church.

"Modern educators almost without exception accept the theory of evolution and it would be practically impossible to gather together as large a faculty as at Carleton and possessed of as excellent a teaching talent, without having such a faculty hold to the theory of evolution," he said.

Milwaukee, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Motions of attorneys in the $250,000 alienation of affections suit of Jerome Bradley, against Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Forster, in which Judge E. T. Fairchild is asked to direct the jury to return a verdict in favor of the Forsters, occupied most of the session today.

The jury was excused during the arguments on this motion and were ordered to report at 2 p. m.

The extended period required for the arguments in the event the court denied the motion may result in extending the case into next week.

BANDITS THOUGHT READY TO BATTLE THEIR PURSUERS

STATE POLICE PATROL 13 MAIN
ROADS IN VICINITY OF
ELIZABETH, N. J.

LOOT OF MAIL BANDITS ESTIM-ATED AT NEARLY
$300,000

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 15.—(UP) — Regular and deputized officers, ready to shoot to kill and equipped with tear gas bombs, were hunting northern New Jersey's mountains today for eight mail bandits armed with machine guns.

Entrenched in the 180-mile square region were believed to be the drug crazed bandits, ready to battle with their powerful weapons which killed a mail truck driver and shot down his helper and a police guard in Elizabeth yesterday.

State police patrolled 13 main roads through the area and planned to organize searching parties to capture the bandits and retrieve their loot, estimated at nearly $300,000, of which $167,000 was in cash.

The search centered in the sparsely settled territory bounded by Springfield, Round Brook, Somerville and the state road from Morristown to Somerville.

Led by postal inspectors and police from Elizabeth and Newark, the searchers were in automobiles, on motorcycles and afoot, ready for battle with the bandits they believed they had cornered.

With drug inspired ferocity, the bandits held up a mail truck here yesterday, killing John Enz, the driver, and wounding two of his guards. They ran the mail truck over the body of one of their victims.

John Quinn, one of the guards, was shot three times and badly wounded. Motorcycle Policeman Jacob Christian was shot and then ran over. A spectator was slightly wounded.

When systematic searching was started after the sudden attack, radio stations sounded the alarm.

Police guarded the ferries along the New Jersey shore.

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 15.—State police, armed with machine guns, surrounded a swamp near here today on word from a posse that the eight bandits who held up a mail truck in Elizabeth yesterday had been cornered.

An airplane was reported on its way from Mitchell Field to aid in the search. The bandits are well armed and it was believed a battle would take place if they were found in the swamp.

MRS. A. H. MAETZOLD

Red Wing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. August H. Maetzold, 48, wife of a Red Wing merchant and mother of Russell Maetzold, assistant football coach at Hamline university, St. Paul, died suddenly at her home here today.

Besides the husband and Russell, Mrs. Maetzold is survived by her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. Grosse, and a daughter, Grace.

GUN MAKES TROUBLE FOR ALL CONCERNED

Duluth, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Wounded by the revolver of a boy he had just helped rob, John Burke, 16, of Duluth, is reported today to be in a serious condition at a hospital here.

Burke and George Forseth got into an argument with Waldemar Clodfelter, 16, over Clodfelter's boast of his ability as a fighter and a hunter. Forseth knocked Clodfelter down, took $1.70 and a revolver out of his pocket and with Burke fled. Burke carried the revolver in his belt, stumbled and fell and discharged the gun.

The bullet struck Burke in the right leg near the hip.

Burke and Forseth also were armed with .22 caliber rifles with which they had gone hunting.

LEGION BUSY SELECTING NEW COMMANDER

IN FIRST POLL JOHNSON OF
SOUTH CAROLINA, AND SAVAGE,
ILLINOIS, DEADLOCKED

FIFTH AND SIXTH BALLOTS TAK-EN ALSO REVEAL LITTLE CHANGE IN THE VOTE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—J. Munroe Johnson of South Carolina and Howard P. Savage of Illinois were deadlocked on the first ballot in the contest for national commander at the eighth annual convention of the American Legion today.

The first poll showed Johnson 488, Savage 485, Thomas Amory Lee, Topeka, Kas., 29; Williams, South Dakota, 18, and E. E. Spafford, New York, 9.

The number of votes necessary to election is 548.

The second ballot showed little change from the original vote. Savage gained seven votes and Johnson lost five.

The poll was Johnson 483, Savage 492, Lee 29, Williams 18 and Spafford 7.

The third ballot resulted practically the same as the second.

The fourth ballot likewise showed but little change. Savage polled 484, Johnson 496, Lee 29, Williams 18, Spafford 25.

In the fifth ballot no important change. Johnson polled 496, Savage 486, Lee 27, Williams 18, and Spafford 2.

The sixth ballot also revealed no material changes: Johnson 492, Savage 473, Lee 43, Williams 18, Spafford 3.

The leading candidates were still deadlocked on the eighth ballot today. Johnson polled 488 and Savage 473.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—General J. J. Pershing and Marshal Foch of France were made honorary commanders of the American Legion for life by unanimous vote of the eighth annual American Legion convention here today.

A resolution giving the honorary title to the leaders in the A. E. F. and the French commander in chief of the allied armies in the world war was presented by the resolutions committee and adopted amid enthusiastic cheers by the convention.

The action was a compromise agreement worked out by Legion leaders upon the proposal to make Pershing the active national commander for the trip to Paris next year.

Pershing told the leaders he did not desire the active post and his retirement from the contest opened the way for sharp political contests between the remaining candidates.

I believe the senators will consent to convene here after they have finished their investigation in Illinois next week."

Floyd Christian, former attorney for Stephenson, who told of seeing documents of a startling nature, piled on the bunk of the former dragon in the jail at Noblesville, Ind., testified before the grand jury for more than an hour yesterday.

Later the jury heard evidence of C. M. Hull, Anderson, photographer, and his wife, who claimed they made photostatic copies of Stephenson's missing documents before he was sent to prison.

Adams was subpoenaed to testify again today before the grand jury. He was the first witness called in the inquiry. He charged that Stephenson's documents contained copies of contracts the deposed dragon made with officials whereby he would control the government for engineering their election.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 15.—Information obtained from D. C. Stephenson, former Klan dragon, in a secret interview at the state prison at Michigan City was placed before the Marion county grand jury today by William Sheaffer, deputy prosecutor in the investigation of state politics.

Sheaffer and Earl Klenck, former lieutenant of Stephenson in the Klan organization, were closeted alone with Stephenson in a room at the prison for three hours yesterday.

POST OFFICE DROPS TRANSCONTINENTAL AIR MAIL LINE

Washington, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The post office department announced today it will relinquish the transcontinental and overnight New York-Chicago government operated air mail services and will advertise within 30 days for bids for private enterprise to take over the service.

"It has never been the intention of the post office department to continue operation permanently of the air mail service," Postmaster General New said.

The department had $5 airplanes, 15 hangars and machine shops worth several millions dollars, which will be sold.

NEW WITNESSES IN McPHERSON CASE ARRIVE

STATE PREPARES TO REST ITS CASE AGAINST THE EVANGELIST

LATTER ACCUSED OF CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY TO OBSTRUCT JUSTICE

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 15.—New witnesses in the Almee Semple McPherson hearing began arriving in Los Angeles today as the state prepared to rest its case against the evangelist, who is accused of criminal conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The witnesses included five persons from Douglas, Ariz., who are to aid Mrs. McPherson in her effort to convince Municipal Judge Samuel Blake that she was really kidnapped, as she claims, and not on a "love trust" with Kenneth G. Ormiston, her radio operator, during her mysterious five weeks' absence from Angeles Temple.

Several "surprise witnesses" were here also. It was announced by Defense Attorney W. I. Gilbert, to establish, if possible, that it was another woman and not Mrs. McPherson who occupied a "love nest" with Ormiston at Carmel by the Sea, May 19-29, immediately after the evangelist disappeared from the beach at Ocean Park.

questioning him on his political activities.

The deputy prosecutor returned to Indianapolis elated with the results of his interview.

It was learned that Stephenson repeated the charges he has made in letters smuggled from the prison and made public by Thomas Adams, Vincennes editor.

The letters asserted the rule of Stephenson as Klan dragon was marked by political corruption and the exercise of sinister influence over certain state and city officials.

Klenck was tried with Stephenson for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis but was acquitted while Stephenson was given a life sentence.

Sheaffer and Klenck slipped quietly away from Indianapolis with an order from the grand jury to be permitted to talk to Stephenson without prison guards being present.

It was not known whether Stephenson had disclosed the hiding place of important documents and checks wanted by the investigators.

Prosecutor William H. Remy, who is in charge of the grand jury investigation, believes the documents can be traced through Mildred Meade, Stephenson's former stenographer.

Miss Meade disappeared last week and search for her is in progress in several midwestern cities.

Adams, head of a committee of editors investigating the regime of Stephenson, said he believed Miss Meade was induced to flee from the grand jury investigators by interests seeking to prevent the Stephenson documents from being found.

SAFELY MOORED TO THE $100,000 FORD AIR MAST

TRIP WAS MADE IN A LITTLE OVER 16 HOURS, COMPLETED
3:30 A. M.

SOME CONTRARY HEAD WINDS ENCOUNTERED OVER THE STATE OF OHIO

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—(UP)—The giant navy dirigible Los Angeles completed its cruise from the Lakehurst, N. J., hangar to Detroit at 3:30 this morning and two hours later was safely moored to the $100,000 Ford air mast at Dearborn.

The trip from Lakehurst was made in a little more than 16 hours, and except for some contrary head winds encountered over Ohio, was smooth. These winds slowed down the 50 miles an hour gait that had been maintained after passing Pittsburgh to 20 miles an hour.

The day broke with a perfect sky. Hardly a bit of wind was stirring and the ship was very still against the tower. The crowd about it was increased by a continuous stream of automobiles coming from all directions. It was necessary for spectators to build small fires to keep themselves warm.

Approximately 3,500 people, including Henry and Edsel Ford, were waiting for the dirigible. Almost simultaneously with the sighting of the giant ship, 1,000 searchlights from as many automobiles parked at the Ford airport, shot their rays upon the hulk of the ship, silhouetting its beautiful silver frame against the dark skies.

After cruising about the port for an hour, awaiting better light for a landing, Commander Rosendahl had a rope dropped to the ground at 4:35 A. M. An hour later the vessel was moored fast to the mast.

Just a little more than a year ago this mast had been built for the ill-fated Shenandoah, sister to the Los Angeles, to dedicate.

Lieutenant Commander Charles Rosendahl was the first to alight from the ship. He was greeted by Henry Ford.

Rosendahl indicated that his stay in Detroit was undetermined as yet. The commander said he would make a flight over Detroit shortly before noon and return to the field, where he will remain until tonight and possibly until tomorrow.

Members of the crew were permitted to come aground, but not to leave the field.

Washington, Oct. 15.—First word of the successful landing of the dirigible Los Angeles at Detroit, reached the navy department early today, through the United Press, after watchers had spent an anxious night awaiting news. The navy's communication was a telegram that she had passed Akron, Ohio, and stated that the main radio set was out of order.

VOLSTEAD FINDS NEW SOURCE OF BOOTLEG LIQUOR

St. Paul, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Andrew J. Volstead in the role of a prohibition investigator, has discovered a new source for Chicago's bootleg liquor at Wausau, Wis.

Volstead announced today that testimony taken from Alfred Schmidt former brewmaster of the Chief Wausau Company, indicated beer having an illegal alcoholic content was being shipped from Wausau to Chicago. Seven carloads were in one shipment, Volstead said.

Volstead, who is legal adviser to General Walter F. Rhinow, north-west prohibition administrator, said steps would be taken to revoke the brewery's license.

THOS. A. EDISON BELIEVES IN LIFE AFTER DEATH

New York, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Thomas A. Edison, after varying degrees of skepticism on the question of immortality of the soul, has made known his belief that the evidence is in favor of life after death.

In an interview published in the November Forum, the inventor admits he sees nothing incredible in the possibility of the soul's being immortal. He urges religious teachers to study the subject and try to build up proof which skeptics cannot laugh at.

His latest attitude is at variance with previous stands.

Six years ago he said he was "dabbling" with apparatus with which he hoped to communicate with spirits and then he later said "it was all a joke."

In 1924 he said "my brain is incapable of conceiving of such a thing as a soul."

In his earlier years he and Luther Burbank were leaders in the Free Thinkers' society.

DR. W. R. RILEY SEEKS DEBATE ON EVOLUTION

AWAITS A REPLY FROM HIS CHALLENGE TO J. A. A.
BURNQUIST

DR. RILEY WISHES TO USE MIN-
NEAPOLIS ARMORY AS PUB-
LIC FORUM

Minneapolis, Oct. 13.—(UP)—Dr. W. R. Riley of Minneapolis today awaited a reply from his challenge to J. A. A. Burnquist for a debate on evolution.

Dr. Riley, a leader among fundamentalists of the northwest, invited Burnquist, a trustee of Carleton college at Northfield, to discuss the question with him on the platform of the Minneapolis Armory before a public audience.

The challenge grew out of Dr. Riley's resolution before the Minnesota Baptist convention, providing that financial support be withdrawn from Carleton, because of alleged belief of the faculty in evolution.

Meanwhile the right of the Carleton faculty to hold whatsoever belief it wished and retain Baptist support was upheld by Rev. David Bryn-Jones of Trinity Baptist church.

"Modern educators almost without exception accept the theory of evolution and it would be practically impossible to gather together as large a faculty as at Carleton and possessed of as excellent a teaching talent, without having such a faculty hold to the theory of evolution," he said.

ATTORNEYS ARGUE MOTIONS IN CASE OF BRADLEY VS. FORSTER

Milwaukee, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Motions of attorneys in the $250,000 alienation of affections suit of Jerome Bradley, against Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Forster, in which Judge E. T. Fairchild is asked to direct the jury to return a verdict in favor of the Forsters, occupied most of the session today.

The jury was excused during the arguments on this motion and were ordered to report at 2 p. m.

The extended period required for the arguments in the event the court denied the motion may result in extending the case into next week.

Attorney J. C. Hardgrove made the motion, asking for a directed verdict in five separate requests.

TO SETTLE CLAIMS OF HOHENZOLLERNS

Berlin, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The Prussian Diet today approved the terms of the agreement to settle the claims of the Hohenzollern family against the state. The claims involved both money and real estate.

Communist opposition has been vigorously against the settlement, but the Diet was so overwhelmingly in favor of the settlement that it was approved by a rising vote.

BANDITS THOUGHT READY TO BATTLE THEIR PURSUERS

STATE POLICE PATROL 13 MAIN
ROADS IN VICINITY OF
ELIZABETH, N. J.

LOOT OF MAIL BANDITS ESTIM-ATED AT NEARLY
$300,000

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Regular and deputized officers, ready to shoot to kill and equipped with tear gas bombs, were hunting northern New Jersey's mountains today for eight mail bandits armed with machine guns.

Entrenched in the 180-mile square region were believed to be the drug crazed bandits, ready to battle with their powerful weapons which killed a mail truck driver and shot down his helper and a police guard in Elizabeth yesterday.

State police patrolled 13 main roads through the area and planned to organize searching parties to capture the bandits and retrieve their loot, estimated at nearly $300,000, of which $167,000 was in cash.

The search centered in the sparsely settled territory bounded by Springfield, Round Brook, Somerville and the state road from Morristown to Somerville.

Led by postal inspectors and police from Elizabeth and Newark, the searchers were in automobiles, on motorcycles and afoot, ready for battle with the bandits they believed they had cornered.

With drug inspired ferocity, the bandits held up a mail truck here yesterday, killing John Enz, the driver, and wounding two of his guards. They ran the mail truck over the body of one of their victims, John Quinn, one of the guards, was shot three times and badly wounded. Motorcycle Policeman Jacob Christian was shot and then ran over. A spectator was slightly wounded.

With ease the fugitives outrole motor policemen.

When systematic searching was started after the sudden attack, radio stations sounded the alarm.

Police guarded the ferries along the New Jersey shore.

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 15.—State police, armed with machine guns, surrounded a swamp near here today on word from a posse that the eight bandits who held up a mail truck in Elizabeth yesterday had been cornered.

An airplane was reported on its way from Mitchell Field to aid in the search. The bandits are well armed and it was believed a battle would take place if they were found in the swamp.

MRS. A. H. MAETZOLD DIES SUDDENLY TODAY

Red Wing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. August H. Maetzold, 48, wife of a Red Wing merchant and mother of Russell Maetzold, assistant football coach at Hamline university, St. Paul, died suddenly at her home here today.

Besides the husband and Russell, Mrs. Maetzold is survived by her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. Grosse, and a daughter, Grace.

GUN MAKES TROUBLE FOR ALL CONCERNED

Duluth, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Wounded by the revolver of a boy he had just helped rob, John Burke, 16, of Duluth, is reported today to be in a serious condition at a hospital here. Burke and George Forseth got into an argument with Waldemar Clodfelter, 16, over Clodfelter's boast of his ability as a fighter and a hunter. Forseth knocked Clodfelter down, took $1.70 and a revolver out of his pocket and with Burke fled. Burke carried the revolver in his belt, stumbled and fell and discharged the gun.

The bullet struck Burke in the right leg near the hip.

Burke and Forseth also were armed with .22 caliber rifles with which they had gone hunting.

Manager W. R. Hiller Booth Latest Productions for Local Theatres

"The Big Parade," "The Black Pirate," "Variety" Among Pictures Coming

Through its linking with the Northwest Theatre Circuit Inc., which includes a chain of 118 Finkelstein & Ruben theatres, the local theatres will receive this fall and winter the very latest and best screen attractions direct from the cities, assuring the theatre lovers of the very best of screen and vaudeville engagements. W. R. Hiller, manager of the Lyceum and Park theatres announced today.

Brainerd is indeed fortunate in securing affiliation with this organization of which Clyde E. Parker is a local partner. It means better entertainment can be secured by having more playing time to offer the attractions. This applies principally to vaudeville, bills presented at the Park theatre.

The vaudeville bills being offered this season at the Park theatre on Tuesdays have all been exceptionally good, and it is hoped the patronage will warrant the continuing of the same. Many of the screen offerings come here direct from the Twin Cities' leading theatres, and oftentimes are shown here before the city showing.

Perhaps the most notable ones of the outstanding productions to be shown here shortly are: "The Big Parade," a road show picture to be shown here Oct. 31 with 20 piece orchestra, same as now playing the Metropolitan Opera House, Minneapolis; Douglas Fairbank's greatest superspecial, "The Black Pirate" will open a four day run at the Park theatre commencing Oct. 22. Others to follow are "Variety," the noted foreign picture which has had such a large run in the east, also "Red" Grange, in his first picture, "One Minute to Play," "La Boheme," "Mare Nostrum." Word has also been received by Manager Hiller that "Stella Dallas," one of the greatest pictures ever made has been purchased and will play over the F. & R. circuit in the near future.

The Auglar Brothers stock company will open a week's engagement at the Park theatre on November 15. "F. & R. theatres are public institutions, and their employees, public servants—and we mean it," said Manager Hiller. "We are striving at all times to raise the standard of theatre entertainment of which the F. & R. organization now ranks as among the finest in the country."

HEDDA HOYT SAYS---

THE WOMAN PAYS

By HEDDA HOYT
New York, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The woman who likes to feel that she is better dressed than the average little flapper must pay and pay. It's easy enough to dress in these days of $15 dresses and $30 suits but to be well dressed is quite another matter. There seems to be a shortage of in-between priced garments.

A few seasons ago one could buy an original model for around $50 but this is rarely true today since the $50 dress has the earmarks of the $14 in most cases. One must pay high prices to hear other women sigh, "Isn't she elegant!"

Since most women have a clothes allowance there seems but two ways of combatting the clothes question. Women who prefer changes above all else can content themselves with cheap frocks which can be replaced whenever they become "flappers." They can have the latest silhouettes colors and changes enough to feel "new" at all times.

Not all women, however, can wear inferior dresses. Many women prefer fine materials and workmanship to faddish styles and colors. One costly gown means more to them than a dozen cheap ones. If their dress allowance is limited they purchase but one or two new gowns during a season but these gowns are models which will not be duplicated by every second woman on the streets.

Some women having 'champagne taste and beer money' want both changes and quality. Their only salvation is to align themselves with the 'sales hounds' who buy only during 'sales' seasons.

Towards the later part of each season high priced gowns and wraps are sold off at great reductions. Among these models are imports which will keep in style for several seasons owing to their advance silhouettes.

The selective buyer does not choose eccentric lines, seasonal colorings or dresses which are easily copied, for she buys with the idea of wearing until another 'sales' period.

One high-priced model outlasts 3 or 4 cheap dresses and one need have no qualms about appearing in the same dress often. One has confidence in the $150 gown that has been reduced to $65. Your daily newspaper is the means of keeping you in touch with approaching sales. The well-dressed woman is also well-read for she never lets a 'sale' ad escape her.

HOPE TO SOLVE SURPLUS COTTON SOUTHERN PROBLEM

"SELLING TOO LOW, BUT WILL STRENGTHEN," SAYS SECRETARY JARDINE

"WHAT IS FIRST REQUIRED IS ORDERLY MARKETING OF THE CROP"

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1926, by United Press)
Washington, Oct. 15.—A satisfactory solution of the surplus cotton problem is certain to be reached, meantime America must not lose its confidence in cotton, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

"Cotton is one of the most important, if not the greatest, crop in the country," Jardine said. "It is selling too low, but it will strengthen."

"What is needed is orderly marketing of the crop. Cotton should be put on the market only as fast as consumption demands it. The product is still in the hands of the farmers and we want to arrange the handling movement and storage for growers so they will suffer no great loss from low prices."

Jardine said it is imperative the cotton problem be solved promptly as it might influence the prosperity of the country.

"Cotton at its present price has already reduced the buying power of the south by millions of dollars," he said. "This factor reflects on the entire country."

U. S. FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE IN SEPTEMBER

The favorable balance for the first nine months this year was $87,209,954 compared with $423,726,921 for the corresponding period last year.

BUSINESS HABITS PREVAIL

It seems impossible to wean Secretary Mellon away from the business habits of a lifetime. There has been a clamor to add what will apparently be a $200,000,000 surplus in income tax receipts this year, to the $370,000,000 surplus of last year, and make a further total cut of some $500,000,000 a year in taxes.

This might be good politics for a temporary period. But Secretary Mellon is running the Government Treasury the way he would the treasury of a private company.

Heavy cuts have already been made in our federal income taxes, and Secretary Mellon says he is as anxious as others to see taxes cut to the lowest safe limit, "but we have to look to future years. We are enjoying tax returns now on unprecedented prosperity, and any change in this would wipe out the anticipated margin."

He points out that while the income taxes are greater than expected, this increase will be partly offset by a drop of about $80,000,000 this quarter, in miscellaneous tax receipts under the new law, and that altogether the Treasury believes $200,000,000 less will be collected this year than last year, from miscellaneous taxes which were reduced or eliminated.

Also, Secretary Mellon points out that the $370,000,000 surplus of last year was used to pay off public debts, and that, furthermore, as a good business proposition, it should not be added to the 1926 surplus as a gauge for tax reduction.

This all sounds like business advice rather than political capital, and the people of the United States can be thankful their Treasury is run on a business basis, instead of as a political machine. This practice should be extended to state affairs.—From Industrial News Bureau, the Manufacturer.

MODERN FARMER ONE JUMP AHEAD OF CITY SLICKER

CHARLES M. WITTE, former Brainerd man now a resident of Detroit, Mich., in renewing his subscription to the Brainerd Dispatch, encloses a clipping from the Detroit Sunday Free Press which comments on a news item from Brainerd territory, given wide publicity throughout the United States.

The Detroit Free Press with the story and its comments states: A farmer living near Brainerd has posted a sign in his driveway that is calculated to convey to passing motorists the idea that their presence on his premises are anything but desired: His sign reads: No Phone. No Gas. No Water. No Nothing. Keep Out!

Possibly he was induced to post such a sign because of the tendency some folks have of helping themselves to whatever they find along the roadside, even though they have to tear down a fence or two to attain their objective.

There's a yarn that illustrates the point: A couple from the city stopped to gather some apples from a farmer's orchard. They decided, after they had the apples, to tell the owner about it.

"Hey, old timer," they accosted the farmer, "we helped ourselves to your apples."

"Oh, that's all right," replied the son of the soil, "I helped myself to the tools in your car while it was parked."

THAT PAVING CELEBRATION

SOME comment has been made why the Trunk Highway No. 27 paving celebration was not set for this year and the Chamber of Commerce even heard a man from St. Paul plead to give paid publicity to the affair.

As the matter now stands, the paving may be finished by October 25, but it takes 10 days or more to "cure" the paving. The paving celebration, when held, is an out-door affair and not confined indoors.

A late October day or an early November day is always chilly in our section and causes much discomfort. Bands are frequently unable to play on account of the cold atmosphere.

Taking all things into consideration, we think the Chamber of Commerce and its committee chairman, W. H. Cleary, did well to postpone the celebration to early spring, when the completion of the paving and the opening of the tourist season can be made a double-barrelled celebration, and participated in with some degree of comfort.

DEATH CUTS DOWN THE PIONEERS

It is sad, in a way, to read the Brainerd Dispatch and note the many pioneers being called to their reward. Every issue chronicles the passing of some man or woman who in the early days of Brainerd and Crow Wing county did much to build up this section.

Nearly all have passed the allotted three score and ten period and so have attained ripe old ages. It is for us to make comfortable and happy the declining days of these pioneers and when gone, to cherish their memories and to emulate the example of Spartan energy and fortitude they set in the early days of their lives, when this section was carved from a wilderness.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

THE church, declared Governor Christianson before the 68th annual convention of the Presbyterian Synod of Minnesota, at the Men's Club meeting of the Presbyterian church at St. Cloud last evening, is a paramount force for good citizenship. The first principle of good citizenship is loyalty to your country, and loyalty to your country means that you should exercise the right of franchise. One of the greatest dangers today to our free institution is the failure of citizens to cast their votes. As the result of the failure of millions to vote we have today largely a government by blocs and minorities. Millions today spurn and neglect the right which is theirs to rule themselves.

In a few weeks there will be a general election. It is the duty of all citizens to go to the polls and cast their vote. It is important of course, how they vote, but it is most important that they do vote.—St. Cloud Daily Times.

Men last night finished their work on the basement of the new St. Joseph's hospital and the workmen left for their respective homes. The work on the superstructure will not commence until spring. On March 1, weather permitting, everything will be in readiness and the work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

Wm. Anderson has sold his contract for carrying the mail between Vineland and Brainerd to H. Shepherd, the change taking place yesterday.

Mrs. Chas. D. Parker returned to Chicago this afternoon after a pleasant visit in the city with her mother Mrs. Grandelmeier.

County Auditor Mahlum has up to date issued 10 resident licenses to gentlemen who will hunt deer this fall. In some counties large numbers have applied already, but there is nearly a month yet before the season opens, and most of the hunters are not rushing matters at all.

The members of the W. R. C. are arranging for a grand concert to be given on the evening of Oct. 31. Some of the best talent in musical lines in the city will be secured and it is hoped that arrangements can be made for some good speakers from the road. The proceeds from the concert is to be divided, one half to be given to the corps and the other half to be given to the fund for the erection of a monument to the memory of the late President McKinley.

A special meeting of the W. R. C. will be held at the home of Mrs. Thevot on Friday commencing at 8 o'clock and a full attendance is desired.

JURY DECLARES ALLEGED SLAYER NOT GUILTY

Marquette, Wis., Oct. 15.—(UP)—After hours' deliberation, the jury in the trial of Peter Pappas, Pembine restaurant owner, charged with the slaying of Louis Sweeney, Amberg, filling station proprietor, returned a verdict of not guilty here last night.

Sweeney was shot and killed when he and three companions attempted to force an entrance into the restaurant to get a sandwich.

According to testimony, Sweeney kicked the door open and was shot by Pappas who opened fire from within the place.

From July 2, 1924, to July 7, 1926, just two years, Minnesota has had 95 State Bank failures, carrying deposits of approximately $20,000,000.00. THIS IS AN AVERAGE OF NEARLY ONE BUSTED BANK A WEEK. Only 17 of these banks have reopened.

I Favor a Bank Guarantee Law, to Make Banking Safer in Minnesota

We need farm and school aid; tourist development; change in game and fish laws to conform with our southern counties.

The office of State Senator for the 53rd District pays a salary of $2,000.00 for four years service, six months of that time must be spent in the State Capitol at St. Paul. The voters of this District should realize that sum of money will not any more than pay traveling and living expenses in St. Paul, for the four years of service.

I have neither the time nor the money to put on a proper campaign as other candidates are doing.

If it is necessary to spend large sums of money to be elected to an office of this kind I will have to concede defeat.

FOOTBALL CARD ON SATURDAY THRILLING

FOOTBALL CARD PROVIDES BEST LINEUP OF GAMES

NO "SET UPS" IN THE SCHEDULE AS IT IS NOW ARRANGED

NO MEDIOCRE OPPOSITION TO PREPARE FOR STIFF NOVEMBER OPPOSITION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Oct. 15.—The football card for the third Saturday in October provides the best line-up of games ever provided this early in the season.

Mid-October used to find the first class eleven still meeting third class competition. But football has spread so tremendously within recent years that the number of "set ups" has dwindled, and the great gridiron teams no longer can afford to train for stiff November engagements on mediocre opposition.

Four games will be played tomorrow which may be found later to have settled the mythical eastern football championship. Dartmouth meets Yale; Syracuse plays the Army; Georgetown meets West Virginia, and the Navy encounters Princeton.

Many fans already believe that the Yale and Dartmouth eleven are the ranking teams of the east. The big Green team, undefeated for two seasons, will come to New Haven with a much changed line-up from that with which Coach Jess Hawley developed the uncrowned championship aggregation of 1925.

Yale will meet Dartmouth with Hawley plays. In its last game the Eli uncorked a passing and off-tackle game resembling closely that taught by the Hanover coach. What the Vermonters will do in the face of its own style of attack is unknown.

Syracuse has rolled up great scores on its early opponents but the first real test of the upstate New York eleven comes in the battle with the always dangerous Cadets.

West Virginia, which has cleaned up thus far, will run into sturdy competition from Georgetown, which despite its tie with Pitt, looks like one of the outstanding eleven of the year. Princeton will meet a revitalized Navy team and will have to improve over last Saturday's play to prevent another Big Three team from going down to defeat.

The big eastern teams also are well represented in intersectional play. Pennsylvania's two aspirants for championship honors, the University of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania State, tackle two of the leading midwest eleven. Pennsylvania will play Chicago, while Penn State will engage Notre Dame.

New York City's teams representing Columbia and New York University, are to play their first hard games of the season, the former meeting Ohio State and the latter Tulane. Columbia seems doomed to defeat while New York University, which has one of the stiffest schedules of the year, is an even money choice with Tulane.

KANSAS AGGIES FACE KANSAS

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 15.—The Kansas-Kansas Aggies football game at Manhattan holds the interest of the Missouri Valley tomorrow. Missouri, two year champions and bidding strongly for a third title, will play a non-conference team, and Nebraska will meet the weaker Washington University team at St. Louis.

Out of the battle at Manhattan may emerge a contender for the Tigers' crown. Kansas Aggies are favored to win, with three of their stellar backfield men of last year returned to the line-up. Don Meek, who, last year, aided greatly in several Aggie victories, was at right half during practice yesterday and the Aggie stock soared. Mack has been out of the practice so far this year.

Missouri is reported ready to start only second string men against Southern Baptist University. Coach Henry does not wish to take a chance of injuring any of his regulars, but will undoubtedly run the most of his first string men into the game before the end of the day.

Nebraska should have little trouble in downing the Washington team at St. Louis. The Huskers have made several changes in their lineup since Saturday's defeat at the hands of Missouri with a resultant stronger team reported. The outcome of the Oklahoma-Drake game at Des Moines is a matter for conjecture. Drake has the slight edge with more regulars back than the Sooners and with a reported deadly offense worked up.

Ames and Grinnell will mix at Grinnell, with the former the favorite. Grinnell, however, is bolstered by the fact that the team has proved victorious over two non-conference teams and has scored against a third.

The Oklahoma Aggies are engaged with Tulsa University at Tulsa, a non-conference team.

FIGHT ON FOR CHAMPIONSHIP CONSIDERATION

FIRST CONFERENCE CLASH OF SEASON FOR BOTH FOOTBALL TEAMS

MICHIGAN HAS ADVANTAGE BECAUSE OF GOPHER DEFEAT BY NOTRE DAME

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Oct. 15.—When the teams of the Big Ten go into action tomorrow, interest over the middle west will be centered on the Michigan-Minnesota conflict, when one of the two ranking teams of the conference will be practically eliminated from championship consideration.

The game at Ann Arbor will be the first conference clash of the season for both teams. Michigan will take the field with an advantage over the Gopher squad in view of the latter's 20-7 defeat by Notre Dame last week. But reports from the Minnesota camp are that the poor tackling shown in the Notre Dame game has been remedied and Coach Spears has warned that the Gophers will be a revamped team when they take the field tomorrow.

Notre Dame, weakened by the loss of Boland, star tackle, and Collins, fullback, is preparing to put up a stiff battle against Penn State, which is rumored to be one of Coach Bedek's old time fighting lineups. Rockne, however, is confident that his "fighting Irish" will emerge victorious as Penn State also is handicapped by injuries to its backfield in last Saturday's tilt with Marietta.

Illinois will meet its first year's jinx, Iowa, at Urbana, and Coach Zuppke has made no predictions that the "fighting Illini" will take handy win. Zuppke declared he was not yet satisfied after Butler's 27-0 defeat by the Illini last Saturday and has put his men through a week of gruelling practice. Last year Iowa sprang a surprise attack in the last few minutes of play to defeat Illinois by a small margin.

Wisconsin has been making threats during the week of rushing the Purdue eleven with an aerial attack at LaFayette tomorrow when the two teams meet for the Boilermakers' homecoming game. Coach Little of the Badger squad is expected to bring his overhead game to offset the smashing attacks of the Purdue line.

Northwestern will meet Indiana at Evanston, Ill., with the best lineup in a number of years and with Lewis back at his backfield position gives odds for a win.

STAGG'S MEN WILL

BATTLE PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—(UP)—All set for their intersectional battle with Pennsylvania on Saturday, Coach Alonzo Stagg and the University of Chicago football squad arrived here today from the west.

They were taken immediately to the Franklin Field stadium to look over the battle ground and then taken in busses to the Manufacturers' Country Club, which will be their home during their stay. There are 36 men in the Maroon squad.

Stagg ordered them to be ready for practice drill immediately after lunch.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Oct. 15.—When the teams of the Big Ten go into action tomorrow, interest over the middle west will be centered on the Michigan-Minnesota conflict, when one of the two ranking teams of the conference will be practically eliminated from championship consideration.

The game at Ann Arbor will be the first conference clash of the season for both teams. Michigan will take the field with an advantage over the Gopher squad in view of the latter's 20-7 defeat by Notre Dame last week. But reports from the Minnesota camp are that the poor tackling shown in the Notre Dame game has been remedied and Coach Spears has warned that the Gophers will be a revamped team when they take the field tomorrow.

Notre Dame, weakened by the loss of Boland, star tackle, and Collins, fullback, is preparing to put up a stiff battle against Penn State, which is rumored to be one of Coach Bedek's old time fighting lineups. Rockne, however, is confident that his "fighting Irish" will emerge victorious as Penn State also is handicapped by injuries to its backfield in last Saturday's tilt with Marietta.

Illinois will meet its first year's jinx, Iowa, at Urbana, and Coach Zuppke has made no predictions that the "fighting Illini" will take handy win. Zuppke declared he was not yet satisfied after Butler's 27-0 defeat by the Illini last Saturday and has put his men through a week of gruelling practice. Last year Iowa sprang a surprise attack in the last few minutes of play to defeat Illinois by a small margin.

Wisconsin has been making threats during the week of rushing the Purdue eleven with an aerial attack at LaFayette tomorrow when the two teams meet for the Bollermakers' homecoming game. Coach Little of the Badger squad is expected to bring his overhead game to offset the smashing attacks of the Purdue line.

Northwestern will meet Indiana at Evanston, Ill., with the best lineup in a number of years and with Lewis back at his backfield position gives odds for a win.

STAGG'S MEN WILL BATTLE PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—(UP)—All set for their intersectional battle with Pennsylvania on Saturday, Coach Alonzo Stagg and the University of Chicago football squad arrived here today from the west.

They were taken immediately to the Franklin Field stadium to look over the battle ground and then taken in busses to the Manufacturers' Country Club, which will be their home during their stay. There are 36 men in the Maroon squad.

Stagg ordered them to be ready for practice drill immediately after lunch.

LIMIT SEASON ON PHEASANTS

Open Season on Chinese Pheasants in County Today and Tomorrow

GOVERNOR ISSUES ORDER

Regulation Applies to Entire State With Exception of Three Counties

Extending additional protection to Chinese pheasants in all counties in the state, except Hennepin, Carver and Scott counties, Governor Theodore C. Johnson has limited the period of open season for the hunting of Chinese pheasants to two days, today and tomorrow, instead of October 15 to November 1.

The Game and Fish Commissioner recently made an investigation of the state and found that closed season this year with the exception of the three counties named and the two days open season, would be necessary to prevent undue depletion of the Chinese ringnecked pheasants.

Chinese pheasants in Crow Wing county are scarce and hunters are in favor of the short season to prevent a complete extermination.

REPORTED MIXUP ON DETOUR ROAD

Bus Driver Tells of Experience Along the Way to Little Falls

CLIMAX UNSOLVED

Erstwhile Passenger Got Off Bus and Engaged in Mixup

Although curiosity insisted upon staying, wise prudence told a bus driver, who thought of the safety of his passengers to keep going and keep out of a mixup that threatened to break out, and particularly when one of the participants mentioned something about a gun.

No outcome has been voiced by anyone concerning the affair so the climax is still a mystery.

A bus driver the other day arriving in Little Falls told of an "incident" that happened on the detour. He said that a man hailed him at Daggett Brook, saying he wanted a ride to Freedmen. The fellow appeared to be nervous, the driver said, and when they came to a place where three men were fixing a tire along the side of the road he asked the driver to stop and let him out. He hopped off the bus, pulling off his coat as he went and telling the trio that "you'll fight now."

In the brawl that ensued the erstwhile bus passenger exchanged blows with one of the men and took a heavy tool away from another, whereupon the third promised to get a gun and shoot him, at the same time stepping toward the driver. Alarmed for the safety of his passengers he made haste to get under way, the driver said.

"TRACKED BY THE POLICE," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
In France Jimmy Ford adopts a police puppy, names it Rin-Tin-Tin and smuggles it home. Murtagh, a crooked politician, covets Jimmy's sweetheart, Ruth Allen. Jimmy's father, a police lieutenant, is mysteriously murdered. Jimmy joins the force to avenge him. Jimmy has an able ally in Rinty, now full-grown. Murtagh, hating and fearing Jimmy, has him assigned to the deadline neighborhood of the Hudson Busters, a gang he secretly leads. Jimmy slays two of the gang in a fight, but is almost killed himself. Rinty saves him. Jimmy is made a sergeant. The gang take an oath to kill Jimmy and Rinty.

There was no mirth in the contemptuous grin with which Jimmy greeted Captain O'Brien's warning of the dreadful oath the Hudson Busters had taken against him; only a hard, salted indication of an unflinching purpose. "The grudge between me and Rinty and the Busters ain't over until I've found out who killed my father!"

Captain O'Brien repeated this duty later with great relish to the desk sergeant and the lieutenants in the precinct headquarters. "You know," he said, "I thought it best to tell him the truth about the Busters having sworn to get him, because if his nerve's gone as a result of his wound now's the best time to find it out. Sometimes cops ain't the same after an affair like Jimmy had. Sometimes it's because they just lose their nerve, and sometimes because they get too touchy, too jumpy on the trigger. But this kid just took it as cool as a cucumber."

Thus by leaps and bounds grew the respect and love and admiration in which Jimmy Ford and Rinty were held by their bluecoat comrades of the Chelsea precinct, a reputation that naturally spread to the lay citizenry, so that when Jimmy and Rinty returned to work at length they had been fully installed as heroes in the public affection.

Sharply aware of this fact were the dormant Hudson Busters and their ever active brain tower, Dan the Dude Murtagh. Hiding as only such sinister creatures can hide in their burrows under the chilling waterfront, elusive as the shadows that fitted on the black waters of the North river at night from the lighted cabins of the swift sliding ferries, evading bluecoats and those other telltale figures in civilian clothes who have turned out feet and squared shoulders, the main fry of the gang had been successful in escaping Captain O'Brien's dragnet. During this enforced hibernation they had been dependent upon Dan Murtagh for the bulk of their upkeep and for their information of the police doings. Indeed, without Dan in close connection at headquarters, privy to all the plans of Captain O'Brien in advance, and even to orders that came from the commissioner, the mentally lean circle of the Busters must have been caught long since. As it was, not one of them had shown his face inside a "night club" or dance dive since the day of the fight.

"Hey, Dan," grinned Bottleneck one night, "Lord help you if O'Brien ever finds out how you've double-crossed him—and him with such heavy fists!"
Of late, however, the gang had regained a measure of confidence and had returned full blast to their dope and run running, under cover of night, and in a certain degree to their murderous sallies as sand-bagging footpads and alleyway sneak thieves.

On this particular day, late in November, when Murtagh gained admittance to the secret rendezvous—that under the deserted warehouse and the abandoned docks—the whole gang was in attendance, because something important, in so far as they were affected, had transpired this morning.

Murtagh, returning the mumbles of homage—"Lo, Dan! Wle gahs, Dan?—Pipe Dan! Look who's here!"—in the customarily off-hand manner that lent a dramatic touch of which he was deliberately aware, smiled as he saw the circle of vicious faces, each one more eager and blood thirsting than usual.

"I see that you boys know the jig!" he smiled. "Well, it's true. Jimmy Ford went back on the job this morning as a sergeant. He's in charge of this whole waterfront district and under orders to clean it up."

There was a concerted mutter of voices, a hiss of rage as from a stepped on snake, a buzz of anger as from an uprooted beehive.

Murtagh knew "gang psychology." He also knew the elementary emotionalism of the crook. So he said nothing for a moment, but just smiled in a goading, tantalizing sort of way. Then he went on: "I myself heard Captain O'Brien read him special orders this morning, to draw the deadline more rigidly and to employ Rinty to the fullest extent of his ability for tracking down the more or less well known Hudson Busters!"

Dan was mocking them now—these sheep who hung on his influence and his brains like parasites. He sneered: "And do you know what Sergeant Ford said? What he told the captain that he'd stand you out even if he had to use smoke and 'Rough on Rats,' and that he'd let Rinty snap your necks like he would any other sewer beast!"

The expanding rage of the gangsters, smarting and swelling under the insidious lash of Murtagh's captivity, erupted in bellows of fury, in snarls, in obscene oaths. In particular the mention of the dog's part in the proposed ferretting out seemed to arouse the most intense hatred. Kid Twist, whose wrist would always bear the terrible scars gouged by Rinty's fangs, gritted:

"I won't miss—the next time. Those two will pay for the killing of Black Mike and the Squeeze Kid, believe me!"

Kid Twist's belligerency, his boiling threats, were fiercely seconded by the gangsters. There was an angry forward surge and a milling around Dan—a hot headed and bestially dumb mob impulse to sally out upon the streets and slink from door to door, from alley to alley, until the first chance presented itself to give Jimmy Ford and Rinty "the works."

Through all the excitement and confused talking and spleen venting Dan Murtagh stood quite unmoved, calm eyed, debonaire. At last he commented quietly:

"When you dumbells get through ravaging I've got something to tell you!"

Quick, heavy silence. Dan's thumb was still the magic, potent sceptre that ruled this gang of millions—this "mob," as such groups are known in the underworld and argot of the underworld.

"It's just this. Kid, you mean well, but you're all wet. We tried the rough house once and Ford and that blasted dog were too rough for six of our guys. Then we tried the real thing. And he and the dog were better than us at that, too. Of course they got the breaks. And next time we might get the breaks. But, also, don't forget that next time there's any wholesale shooting the coppers will croak all you guys if they have to use dynamite. Now, if we have to come to it, we'll get out in the open and shoot 'em down and make the big get away. But first we must try something politer—"

"Yah," objected Bottleneck, "try to get polite with that dog, and see how much of your hands or your pants will be left!"

"This," said Dan curtly, with the quick resentment of one who feels that he has a divine monopoly on such things, "is no time for wise cracks!" He transfixed Bottleneck with a dominant glare which made that worthy lapse into a half ecstatic, half decent silence, but that caused a proper pall of awe to descend upon the rest of the gang.

Tightening his hat upon his head—Dan, in common with the lesser members of the gang, always kept his hat on while in the rendezvous; a get-away was always much easier if one were fully clothed—Dan looked about the group with a conscious air of superiority. He singled out one of the oldest thugs. "Bill," he ordered, "go find Nell and fetch her here!"

Bill disappeared upon his bidden errand, and when the rest of the wondering gang stared upon Dan's mouth agape, bewildered as to what in the world he could want with Nell, their female pal, on an occasion and for a purpose like this, which was so obviously a work for men, Dan just smiled distantly and waved a sick hand and said: "Boys, when you're fighting a cop like Jimmy Ford and a smart dog like Rinty you've got to use BRAINS!"

BRAINERD HIGH PRIMED FOR THE COMING BATTLE

HARD PRACTICE HELD LAST NIGHT, STRESSING FORWARD PASS

PEP FEST HELD THIS AFTERNOON AFTER SCHOOL, ENTHUSIASM SHOWN

The Brainerd high school griders are all primed for the first home game of the season with the Crosby-Ironton eleven tomorrow. The last hard practice was held last evening, defense and offense tactics being especially stressed for the forward pass. According to Coach Beresford the team is in the best condition that it has been for any game played this year and every man with the exception of Finne, star tackle, will be back in the line-up to pull Brainerd out of its early season slump.

An immense pep fest was held this afternoon after school and the enthusiasm displayed warrants a complete turnout of students at the game tomorrow. The entire team and subs including Capt. Putz, Lowe, Fitzharris, Buscher, Wise, Hayes, Brown, Ellison, DeRoche, Greener, Krueger, Finne, Guin, Barnes, Haultala, Fuller, Welliver and Lorenz, were given an ovation, making them more determined than ever to chalk down a local victory.

This afternoon and evening tickets will be sold in the downtown district by high school girls. Alumni, townspeople and visitors are asked to turn out tomorrow and see a "corking good" football game and help cheer Brainerd on to a smashing victory and former football glory. Let's go! Game called at 2:30 P. M. with Blaha of Staples as referee.

STOCKS REFLECT REACTION

New York, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Stocks sank to a new low level on the reaction in today's session on the stock exchange. Many traders who had been operating on the long side liquidated their holdings with the idea of waiting until a clearer idea could be obtained of what prospects the new year would hold out.

Bearish professionals took advantage of this selling to press their operations for the decline. As a result the market was extremely weak most of the day.

Steel broke below 140, the point of resistance established in drives earlier in the week, and further substantial declines took place in General Motors, Mack Truck and other speculative issues.

The market closed lower.

Tracked by the Police
Copyright, 1926, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"TRACKED BY THE POLICE," starring Rin-Tin-Tin, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

In France Jimmy Ford adopts a police puppy, names it Rin-Tin-Tin and smuggles it home. Murtagh, a crooked politician, covets Jimmy's sweetheart, Ruth Allen. Jimmy's father, a police lieutenant, is mysteriously murdered. Jimmy joins the force to avenge him. Jimmy has an ally in Rinty, now full grown. Murtagh, hating and fearing Jimmy, has him assigned to the deadline neighborhood of the Hudson Busters, a gang he secretly leads. Jimmy slays two of the gang in a fight, but is almost killed himself. Rinty saves him. Jimmy is made a sergeant. The gang take an oath to kill Jimmy and Rinty.

There was no mirth in the contemptuous grin with which Jimmy greeted Captain O'Brien's warning of the dreadful oath the Hudson Busters had taken against him; only a hard, sated indication of an unflinching purpose. "The grudge between me and Rinty and the Busters ain't over until I've found out who killed my father!"

Captain O'Brien repeated this duty with great relish to the ask sergeant and the lieutenants in the precinct headquarters. "You know," he said, "I thought it best to tell him the truth about the Busters having sworn to get him, because if his nerve's gone as a result of his wound now's the best time to find it out. Sometimes cops ain't the same after an affair like Jimmy had. Sometimes it's because they just lose their nerve, and sometimes because they get too touchy, too jumpy on the trigger. But this kid just took it as cool as a cucumber."

Thus by leaps and bounds grew the respect and love and admiration in which Jimmy Ford and Rinty were held by their bluecoat comrades of the Chelsea precinct, a reputation that naturally spread to the lay citizenry, so that when Jimmy and Rinty returned to work at length they had been fully installed as heroes in the public affection. Sharply aware of this fact were the dormant Hudson Busters and their ever active brain trust, Dan the Dude Murtagh. Hiding as only such sinister creatures can hide in their burrows under the chilling waterfront, elusive as the shadows that flitted on the black waters of the North river at night from the lighted cabins of the swift sliding ferries, evading bluecoats and those other telltale figures in civilian clothes who have turned out feet and squared shoulders, the main fry of the gang had been successful in escaping Captain O'Brien's dragnet. During this enforced hibernation they had been dependent upon Dan Murtagh for the bulk of their upkeep and for their information of the police doings. Indeed, without Dan in close connection at headquarters, privy to all the plans of Captain O'Brien in advance, and even to orders that came from the commissioner, the mentally least agile of the Busters must have been caught long since. As it was, not one of them had shown his face inside a "night club" or dance dive since the day of the fight.

Jimmy and Rinty were heroes.

"Hey, Dan," grinned Bottleneck one night, "Lord help you if O'Brien ever finds out how you've double-crossed him—and him with such heavy fists!"

Of late, however, the gang had regained a measure of confidence and had returned full blast to their dope and rum running, under cover of night, and in a certain degree to their murderous sallies as sand-bagging footpads and alleyway sneak thieves.

On this particular day, late in November, when Murtagh gained admittance to the secret rendezvous—that under the deserted warehouse and the abandoned docks—the whole gang was in attendance, because something important, in so far as they were affected, had transpired this morning.

Murtagh, returning the mumbles of homage—"Lo, Dan! Lee galts, Dan! Pipe Dan! Look who's here!"—in the customarily off-hand manner that lent a dramatic touch of which he was deliberately aware, smiled as he saw the circle of vicious faces, each one more eager and blood thirsting than usual.

"I see that you boys know the jig!" he smiled. "Well, it's true, Jimmy Ford went back on the job this morning as a sergeant. He's in charge of this whole waterfront district and under orders to clean it up."

There was a concerted mutter of voices, a hiss of rage as from a stepped on snake, a buzz of anger as from an uprooted beehive. Murtagh knew "gang psychology." He also knew the elementary emotionalism of the crook. So he said nothing for a moment, but just smiled in a goading, tantalizing sort of way. Then he went on: "I myself heard Captain O'Brien read him special orders this morning, to draw the deadline more rigidly and to employ Rinty to the fullest extent of his ability for tracking down the more or less well known Hudson Busters!"

Dan was mocking them now—these sheep who hung on his influence and his brains like parasites. He snickered: "And do you know what Sergeant Ford said? What he said about you boys? Well, he told the captain that he'd stamp you out even if he had to use smoke and 'Rough on Rats,' and that he'd let Rinty snap your necks like he would any other sewer beast!"

The expanding rage of the gangsters, smarting and swelling under the insidious lash of Murtagh's captaincy, erupted in bellows of fury, in snarls, in obscene oaths. In particular the mention of the dog's part in the proposed ferreting out seemed to arouse the most intense hatred. Kid Twist, whose wrist would always bear the terrible scars gouged by Rinty's fangs, gritted:

"I won't miss—the next time. Those two will pay for the killing of Black Mike and the Squeeze Kid, believe me!"

Kid Twist's belligerency, his boiling threats, were fiercely seconded by the gangsters. There was an angry forward surge and a milling around Dan—a hot headed and bestial dumb mob impulse to sally out upon the streets and slink from door to door, from alley to alley, until the first chance presented itself to give Jimmy Ford and Rinty "the works."

Through all the excitement and confused talking and spleen venting Dan Murtagh stood quite unmoved, calm eyed, debonair. At last he commented quietly:

"When you dumbbells get through raving I've got something to tell you!"

Quick, heavy silence. Dan's thumb was still the magic, potent scepter that ruled this gang of millions—this "mob," as such groups are known in the underworld and colloquially, but succinct argot of the underworld.

"It's just this. Kid, you mean well, but you're all wet. We tried the rough house once and Ford and that blasted dog were too rough for six of our guys. Then we tried the real thing. And he and the dog were better than us at that, too. Of course they got the breaks. And next time we might get the breaks. But, also, don't forget that next time there's any wholesale shooting the coppers will croak all you guys if they have to use dynamite. Now, if we have to come to it, we'll get out in the open and shoot 'em down and make the big get away. But first we must try something politer—"

"Yah," objected Bottleneck, "try to get polite with that dog, and see how much of your hands or your pants will be left!"

"This," said Dan curtly, with the quick resentment of one who feels that he has a divine monopoly on such things, "is no time for wise cracks!" He waved a sleek hand and a dominant glare which made that worthy lapse into a half sarcastic, half defiant silence, but that caused a proper pall of awe to descend upon the rest of the gang.

"Tightening his hat upon his head—Dan, in common with the lesser members of the gang, always kept his hat on while in the rendezvous; a getaway was always much easier if one were fully clothed—Dan looked about the group with a condescending air of superiority. He singled out one of the oldest thugs, "Rinty," he ordered, "go find Nell and fetch her here!"

Bill disappeared upon his bidden errand, and when the rest of the wondering gang stared upon Dan, mouths agape, bewildered as to what in the world he could want with Nell, their female pal, on an occasion and for a purpose like this, which was so obviously a work for men, Dan just smiled distantly and waved a sleek hand and said: "Boys, when you're fighting a cop like Jimmy Ford and a smart dog like Rinty you've got to use brains!"

BRAINERD HIGH PRIMED FOR THE COMING BATTLE

HARD PRACTICE HELD LAST NIGHT, STRESSING FORWARD
WARD PASS

PEP FEST HELD THIS AFTER-NOON AFTER SCHOOL, EN-THUSIASM SHOWN

The Brainerd high school gridders are all primed for the first home game of the season with the Crosby-Inton eleven tomorrow. The last hard practice was held last evening, defense and offense tactics being especially stressed for the forward pass. According to Coach Beresford the team is in the best condition that it has been for any game played this year and every man with the exception of Finne, star tackle, will be back in the line-up to pull Brainerd out of its early season slump.

An immense pep fest was held this afternoon after school and the enthusiasm displayed warrants a complete turnout of students at the game tomorrow. The entire team and subs including Capt. Putz, Lowe, Fitzharris, Buscher, Wise, Hayes, Brown, Ellison, DeRoche, Greener, Krueger, Finne, Guin, Barnes, Hautala, Fuller, Welliver and Lorenz, were given an ovation, making them more determined than ever to chalk down a local victory.

This afternoon and evening tickets will be sold in the downtown district by high school girls. Alumni, townspeople and visitors are asked to turn out tomorrow and see a "corking good" football game and help cheer Brainerd on to a smashing victory and former football glory. Let's go! Game called at 2:30 P. M. with Blaha of Staples as referee.

STOCKS REFLECT REACTION

New York, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Stocks sank to a new low level on the reaction in today's session on the stock exchange. Many traders who had been operating on the long side liquidated their holdings with the idea of waiting until a clearer idea could be obtained of what prospects the new year would hold out.

Bearish professionals took advantage of this selling to press their operations for the decline. As a result the market was extremely weak most of the day.

Steel broke below 140, the point of resistance established in drives earlier in the week, and further substantial declines took place in General Motors, Mack Truck and other speculative issues. The market closed lower.
